Course No: 6376 - Section No. 14883

Professor: Andrew Michaels – acmichaels@uh.edu
Class Room: TBD
Class Meeting Time: MW – 2:30-4:00PM

Office Hours: W 4-5PM (or by appointment); (office 430H).

Required Texts:

Paul M. Janicke, IP Survey Cases (2018) (available for free, will be posted to canvas)

Other readings will come from cases or articles that you should be able to easily find on lexis / westlaw or online and/or will be posted to blackboard.

Grading / Attendance / Participation:

Your grade will be based primarily on an open-materials final examination to be administered during the Law Center scheduled examination period for this class. Open-materials means any non-interactive materials prepared by you and/or others, including traditional study guides available for purchase, and outlines from other students. Although your exam score will largely determine your grade, I reserve the discretion to adjust your grade up or down by a third of a letter grade to reflect course attendance, preparation, and performance.

You are generally expected to attend, prepare for, and participate in class. I will divide the class into three on-call panels. When your panel is on call, you should make best efforts to be prepared to be called on. You are of course welcome and encouraged to participate even when not on call. It is your responsibility to ensure that you comply with the Law Center attendance policy.

The class is generally scheduled to meet in person on Wednesdays, and via zoom on Mondays. There may be some adjustments to this generally schedule as necessary.

Learning Outcomes:

Students will learn the basics of intellectual property law, including patents, copyright, trademark, and trade secrets. Given the nature of the class, none of these will be covered in great detail, but the student will learn the main purposes and features of each, their similarities and differences, etc.

CAPS: Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) can help students who are having difficulties managing stress, adjusting to the demands of a professional program, or feeling sad and hopeless. You can reach CAPS (www.uh.edu/caps) by calling 713-743-5454 during and after business hours for routine appointments or if you or someone you know is in crisis. No appointment is necessary for the “Let's Talk” program, a drop-in consultation service at convenient locations and hours around campus. http://www.uh.edu/caps/outreach/lets_talk.html

Diversity, Inclusion, and Wellness: This is an inclusive learning space. At UHLC, we are committed to ensuring inclusive online and classroom learning spaces, where you'll be treated with respect and dignity, and where everyone is provided the equitable opportunity to participate, to contribute, and to succeed. In this course, all students are welcome regardless of socio-economic status, age, race, ethnicity, disability, religion, national origin, veteran's status, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, political affiliation, marital status and other diverse identities that we each bring to class. Our class is richer for this diversity. Inclusive learning spaces facilitate the innovation and creative thought that enhance student success. This success arises from the participation, support, and understanding of you and your colleagues. I encourage you to speak up and to share your views, but also understand that you are doing so in a learning environment in which we're all expected to engage respectfully and with regard to the dignity of all others. If you feel like your class performance is impacted in any way by your experiences inside or outside of class, please reach out to me. I want to be a resource for you. If you feel more comfortable speaking with someone besides me, Student Services is an excellent resource: 713-743-2182. Finally, I encourage you to bring any issues negatively impacting UHLC's openness to diversity and inclusion to the Law Center's Diversity and Inclusion committee. The D&I committee's charge includes “[building] on the Law Center's strengths as a diverse and inclusive environment.” You can contact the committee directly at UHLCD&I@uh.edu. Your suggestions are encouraged and appreciated. Please let me know ways to improve the effectiveness of this course for you personally, or for other students or student groups.

Accessibility and Accommodations: UHLC is committed to ensuring that all students enjoy equal access and full participation. If you anticipate or experience barriers based on a disability (including any chronic or temporary medical or mental health condition), please feel free to reach out to me so that we may discuss options. If you require any support services, you may contact Ms. Samantha Ary, Academic Records Coordinator. Ms. Ary is located in room 44A TU-II in the Office of Student Services suite, and she can be reached at sary@central.uh.edu or 713-743-7466. Requests for accommodation that involve graded assignments must be directed to Ms. Ary and should be made as soon as possible to allow adequate time to document and to process the request. If you observe religious or cultural holidays that will coincide with synchronous class sessions or conferences, please let me know as soon as possible, so that we may make arrangements.

UHLC Honor Code: The UHLC Honor Code applies to all aspects of my class. You are responsible for knowing all Honor Code provisions and for complying with the Honor Code. Please ask me if you have any questions regarding how the Honor Code's provisions apply to specific activities or situations related to my course. It is an Honor Code violation to review the graded assignments distributed to, or written by, any of my students from prior years.

Rides can be requested through the UH Go app. Days and hours of operation can be found at <https://uh.edu/af-university-services/parking/cougar-ride/>.

Policy on Artificial Intelligence

General. Generative artificial intelligence is a form of machine learning that creates new and original output based on the data it has been trained on or has access to, employing algorithms to generate content in response to prompts.

Examples of the technology include what are known as generative “large language models” (LLMs). Two well-known LLM implementations are ChatGPT and Claude. LLM output can include text, images, music, code, and more. This syllabus policy covers the textual output of generative LLMs (AI-Generated Text)—which can include computer code or programs and human-language content. Because AI-Generated Text can often mimic human intelligence, it could potentially be used as a substitute for a student’s own work product. Such use is potentially problematic to the extent that it becomes a substitute for internalized student understanding of the material or creates a dependency on AI-Generated Text, which may be strictly prohibited in settings that include the bar examination.

Prohibition. Subject to the exceptions immediately below, your continuing enrollment in this course constitutes your pledge not to generate or to use any AI-Generated Text—whether from yourself or others—in relation to any assessment in this course. The term “assessment” means any graded or ungraded work product for this course that is submitted to the instructor, presented in a class session, or used in an oral or written graded assessment for this course.

Exceptions

The following AI-Generated Text uses are exceptions to the preceding prohibition. The exceptions’ intent is to allow the generation and use of AI-Generated Text for specific, narrowly defined activities related to this course.

- You may generate and use AI-Generated Text for class preparation, although you must disclose the full extent of that use if your professor asks. You may generate and use AI-Generated Text for study supplements to aid with general understanding of course content. This could take different forms that include creating examples or explanations of a concept, generation of diagrams and flow charts, “gamification” of course content, flash cards for study, or sample questions and answers.
- You may generate and use AI-Generated Text for an outline that summarizes the course content.
- You may use AI-Generated Text to check your originally drafted text for misspellings, grammar and punctuation errors, strength and clarity of prose, verbosity, effective transitional language and thesis sentences, word choice, excessive passive voice, and similar things.
- You may use AI based language translation tools.
