What Did You Expect?

Imagine your friend is being charged with a crime. The police have evidence against him/her which they found in several different ways. For each example, decide whether you believe the government should be able to use that evidence if they lacked a warrant when they seized it.

Item/location searched without a warrant	Should police be able to use this evidence against his/her?	Why or why not?
1. Evidence from his/her public-school locker.
2. Websites that he/she visited on her home computer.
3. An email that he/she sent to a friend.
4. Information from his/her Facebook page, including status updates and pictures with locations and other people tagged.
5. His/her movements by car on public streets.
6. The contents of his/her cell phone.
7. Things he/she said on a land-line phone call he/she had at home.
8. Trash from his/her home that his/her family had placed in a garbage can by the curb.
9. Something in his/her fenced backyard, not visible from the street.
