INCREASING RISKS TO ENERGY SECURITY:
TAKING ON POLITICAL, CLIMATIC, AND CRIMINAL RISKS TO NORTH AMERICAN ENERGY SUPPLY

April 27, 2023
John O’Quinn Law Building at University of Houston Law Center

Co-sponsored by

UNIVERSITY OF HOUSTON
Environment, Energy, and Natural Resources (EENR)
UH Energy

BLANKROME
UNIVERSITY OF CALGARY
FACULTY OF LAW

GLPA
Global Law and Policy for the Americas

Case Western Reserve University
SCHOOL OF LAW
8:45 - 9:15 am Registration and Light Breakfast

9:15 - 9:30 am Welcome Remarks
Susan Bickley - Blank Rome
Victor B. Flatt - UHLC EENR Center

9:30 - 10:45 am Geopolitical Risks
From Russia to Iran to Venezuela to Iraq, we are seeing political decisions, war, and violence impact the ability to secure energy supplies. Germany planned its future energy transition around the ability to get cheap Russian Natural gas as baseload bridge fuel, curtailing both coal and nuclear based upon this expectation.

In Mexico, Brazil, and other energy producing countries, complex decisions involving sovereignty, protectionism, and local politics have impacted the investment environment for securing energy supplies and even stalled the energy transition to renewables.

And around the world countries are facing increasing litigation risks to the provision and transport of fossil fuels, and for past impacts.

What is the right path to take to navigate these increasing geopolitical risks? Our panel will explore risk mitigation strategies and options.

Gina Warren - UHLC, Moderator (remote)
Julian Cardenas - UHLC, Geopolitical Energy Risks in Latin America and the Global South
Anthony Rapa - Blank Rome
Kristen van de Biezenbos - University of Calgary Faculty of Laws, Geopolitical Issues in the United States and Canada Energy Relationship
Miranda Leppla - Director, Case Western Reserve University School of Law, Environmental Law Clinic, The First Energy Scandal and Geopolitical Spillover Risks From State Corruption to Electricity Markets

10:45 - 11:30 am Impacts of the Changing Climate on Electricity and Other Energy Supplies
From wildfires to weather, the changing climate is impacting how and where electricity can be generated and transmitted. Our thermal power plants were designed to be able to operate with water of a certain volume and temperature and those parameters are being exceeded more frequently. Similarly, unusual weather will affect equipment (including for renewables) that were designed for a more static climate. And climate exceedances limit how power can be transmitted to avoid sparking disasters. Winter Storm Uri forces us to examine proper energy delivery and design law and policy to mitigate these impacts. What are some of those policies and what are the pluses and drawbacks of these policy changes?

Tracy Hester - UHLC, Moderator
Hannah Wiseman - Penn State Law School and Distinguished Visitor, UHLC (remote)
Pablo Pinto - UH Hobby School of Public Affairs
Victor Flatt - UHLC, Discussant
11:30 - 11:45 am  Break

11:45 - 12:45 pm  Lunch and Keynote Speaker
Kristen Eichensehr - University of Virginia Law School, Head of National Security Law Center

12:45 - 2:15 pm  Privacy and Cyber-Security Risks
Our grid, major private energy producers, and government regulators have been subject to intensifying cyber-attacks which can disrupt energy supply and hold governments, companies, and the public hostage. Confidential Consumer information is also at risk. What can be done to successfully prepare for and battle these assaults?

Nikolas Guggenberger - UHLC, Moderator and Panelist
Tiffany Li - University of Hampshire Franklin Pierce School of Law
Alan Rozenshtein - University of Minnesota Law School (remote)
Andrew Wills - Chief of Staff and Senior Advisor, Office of Cybersecurity, Energy Security, and Emergency Response, U.S. Department of Energy
Alex Niesbaum - Blank Rome

2:15 - 3:30 pm  Dean’s General Counsel Panel
Gregory Brown - General Counsel, Evolution Well Services
David Cooke - General Counsel, Arm Energy Holdings
Andrew Costa - General Counsel, Atlantic Methanol
Deonne Cunningham Nauls - General Counsel, GlidePath Power Solutions, LLC
Paula M. Narcisse - General Counsel, Worldwide Oilfield Machine
Linda D. Primrose - General Counsel and Corporate Secretary, U.S. and Canada Legal Department, Mitsui & Co. (U.S.A.)

3:30 - 3:45 pm  Break

3:45 - 5:00 pm  Risks From Supply Chain Disruptions
From the Trump trade disputes with China, through the disruptions caused by COVID and now the war in Ukraine, it is clear that being able to rely on a frictionless supply chain with complete free trade is a myth. How is this to be mitigated? Must supply chains relocate to “friendlier” and “safer” countries? Should we abandon the “just in time” theory for the older “supplies on hand?” What would be the costs of making these changes? What other impacts, both positive and negative, could such a change have? What if supply chain protection looks like old fashioned protectionism, as the EU has complained about the Inflation Reduction Act.

Elizabeth Trujillo - UHLC, Moving Supply Chains from Asia to North America
Keith LeTourneau - Blank Rome

5:00 - 5:15 pm  Closing
DEAN LEONARD M. BAYNES

Leonard M. Baynes, now the second-longest serving law dean in Texas, made history in 2014 with his appointment as the first dean of African descent of the University of Houston Law Center.

During his deanship, the UH Law Center’s entering credentials increased from a median LSAT score of 159 to 161 and a median GPA of 3.47 to 3.7 while ethnic and racial diversity increased from 35.6% to more than 47%. Women constitute more than 55% of the class. Also, the ultra-modern $93 million state-of-the-art John M. O’Quinn Law Building opened for the fall 2022 semester. Dean Baynes initiated an award-winning Pre-Law Pipeline Program designed to create more opportunities for first-generation, economically challenged, and under-represented college students.

In 2020, Dean Baynes was named to the Lawyers of Color Power List by the Lawyers of Color Foundation. In 2022, he was recognized by the AALS with the Clyde Ferguson Award and by his alma mater, Columbia University School of Law, with the Paul Robeson Award. Dean Baynes has written more than 35 law review articles and in 2020 published a casebook entitled Communication Law in the Public Interest with Wolters Kluwer.

---

SUSAN BICKLEY

Susan L. Bickley has over 30 years of civil trial and appellate experience in employment litigation for private and public employers, litigation involving commercial and business disputes, trade secret litigation, and the defense of claims against professionals. She represents a diverse range of clients including publicly held corporations, smaller companies, and start-ups, as well as public entities and their officials.

In addition, Susan taught “Trial Advocacy” as an adjunct professor at the University of Houston Law Center from 2006 to 2010.

While in law school, she was a research editor for the Houston Law Review, and selected for membership in the Order of the Coif. At the University of Texas at Austin, she was selected for membership in Phi Beta Kappa, and designated a College Scholar based on academic achievement.

In 2010 and 2011, Susan received the President’s Award from the Houston Bar Association. Active in the community, she is Chair of the Board of Directors of the Houston Bar Foundation and a member of the Board of Directors of the UH Law Foundation and the John P. McGovern Museum of Health and Medical Science. She previously served on the State Bar Texas Disciplinary Rules of Professional Conduct Committee and the State Bar Annual Meeting Committee.

Susan holds a number of leadership positions within Blank Rome. In addition to leading the labor & employment practice in Houston, she serves on Blank Rome’s Executive Committee, Chair Nominating Committee, Pro Bono Committee, Compensation Committee, Recruiting Committee, and Diversity & Inclusion Committee, and is a current Office Co-Chair for Blank Rome’s Houston Office. She previously served as a member of the firm’s Strategic Plan Committee and Strategic Plan Implementation Committee, the firm’s Nominating Committee, and is a past Chair of the Blank Rome Women’s Forum.

---

GREGORY BROWN

Gregory Brown serves as Secretary and General Counsel for Evolution Well Services and its affiliated companies and has been with the company since its founding. Mr. Brown is responsible for the company’s legal function, regulatory matters, governmental relations and administrative matters—handling acquisitions and divestitures, intellectual property, litigation, contract and other matters. From May 1996 until 2010, Mr. Brown served as a partner in the litigation and trial practice departments of the Houston offices of Jackson Walker L.L.P. and Akin Gump Strauss Hauer & Feld LLP. Prior to practicing as an attorney, Mr. Brown served as a law clerk to Chief Justice Pascal F. Calogero, Jr. of the Louisiana Supreme Court in New Orleans. Mr. Brown received his law degree from Duke University School of Law and is a graduate of the University of New Orleans.
DEONNE CUNNINGHAM NAULS
Deonne Cunningham Nauls is the General Counsel for GlidePath Power Solutions, LLC. With over 15 years of experience, her practice includes legal issues related to energy matters, including but not specifically limited to, commercial transactions related to marketing, physical and financial derivatives trading for natural gas and other petroleum products, power, and renewables, regulatory and compliance, litigation, project development and facility operations, real estate, land and corporate governance matters.

Her previous experience includes Associate General Counsel at Symmetry Energy Solutions, LLC and Lead Counsel of the Wholesale Legal Contracts team (natural gas, power, and renewables) at Direct Energy. She led the team through the 2021 closing of the $3.6 billion sale of Direct Energy from Centrica, plc to NRG Energy, a Fortune 500 company. She has also represented other companies and organizations as counsel such as Noble Energy, Repsol, Iberdrola, and the North American Energy Standards Board (NAESB) in Houston, Texas.

Deonne obtained her Juris Doctorate from the University of Houston Law Center and Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Houston. She currently serves as a Board Member for the Texas Chapter of the Energy Bar Association and on the Advisory Board for Mercaturae Institute.

JULIAN CARDENAS GARCIA
Julian Cardenas Garcia is a research assistant professor in the Environment, Energy & Natural Resources Center at the UH Law Center and is Director of the UHLC Center for U.S. and Mexican Law. He specializes in International Oil and Gas Law and Latin American issues with a particular focus on Venezuela. Cardenas Garcia is fluent in English, Spanish and French.

DAVID COOKE
Since 2016, Dave has served as the General Counsel of ARM Energy Holdings, LLC, a premier producer services firm providing innovative solutions across the energy value chain in the midstream, upstream, renewable and physical marketing and transportation spaces in North America. Dave currently serves on the company’s Executive Board of Directors and also serves as the company’s Chief Administrative Officer, overseeing ARM Energy’s legal, human resources, compliance, and IT divisions.

Prior to joining ARM Energy, Dave was Assistant General Counsel for Element Markets LLC (now “Anew”) in Houston, where he provided counsel on renewable energy development, project financing, environmental credit marketing, and brokerage services. Dave also worked as a Senior Associate at Locke Lord LLP-Houston and as a Corporate Associate at Simpson, Thacher & Bartlett LLP-New York, where he focused on corporate and energy law, with particular experience in mergers and acquisitions, public and private equity offerings, debt offerings, and general corporate governance.

He received his undergraduate degree in Political Science from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, his Juris Doctor from Duke University School of Law, and his Masters of Public Policy from Duke University’s Terry Sanford Institute of Public Policy.

ANDREW COSTA
Andrew Costa is General Counsel and Assistant Secretary of the Atlantic Methanol Companies. The Atlantic Methanol Companies manufacture methanol from a methanol plant located on Bioko Island in Equatorial Guinea, West Africa, and have operations in Texas and The Netherlands. Prior to that, he was a litigation associate attorney in the Houston office of two national law firms and corporate counsel of a publicly traded manufacturing company.
KRISTEN E. EICHENSEHR

Kristen Eichensehr is the Martha Lubin Karsh and Bruce A. Karsh Bicentennial Professor and director of the National Security Law Center at the University of Virginia School of Law. She writes and teaches about cybersecurity, foreign relations, international law and national security law. Her work has addressed, among other issues, the attribution of state-sponsored cyberattacks, the important roles that private parties play in cybersecurity, the constitutional allocation of powers between the president and Congress in foreign relations, and the role of foreign sovereign amici in the Supreme Court. She received the 2018 Mike Lewis Prize for National Security Law Scholarship for her article, “Courts, Congress, and the Conduct of Foreign Relations.”

Eichensehr is a member of the U.S. State Department’s Advisory Committee on International Law and the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering & Medicine Forum on Cyber Resilience. She serves on the editorial boards of Just Security and the Journal of National Security Law & Policy and previously edited the American Journal of International Law’s section on Contemporary Practice of the United States Relating to International Law. She is a faculty senior fellow that the University of Virginia’s Miller Center, as well as an affiliate of the Stanford Center for International Security and Cooperation and Stanford Law’s Center for Internet and Society.

Eichensehr clerked for Justices Sandra Day O’Connor and Sonia Sotomayor of the Supreme Court of the United States and for Judge Merrick B. Garland of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit. She also served as special assistant to the legal adviser of the U.S. Department of State and practiced at Covington & Burling in Washington, D.C.

VICTOR FLATT

Professor Victor B. Flatt is the Dwight Olds Chair in Law and the Faculty Co-Director of the Environment, Energy, and Natural Resources (EENR) Center at the University of Houston Law Center. He was previously the inaugural O’Quinn Chair in Environmental Law at UHLC from 2002-2009, and the inaugural Taft Distinguished Professor in Environmental Law and the Co-Director of the Center for Climate, Energy, Environment, and Economics (CE3) at UNC Chapel Hill Law School from 2009-2017.

Professor Flatt is a recognized expert on environmental law, climate law, and energy law. He is co-author of a popular environmental law casebook, and has authored more than 60 law review articles, which have appeared in journals such as the Notre Dame Law Review, Ecology Law Quarterly, Washington Law Review, Houston Law Review and the Carolina Law Review. Seven of his articles have been finalists or winners of the best environmental law review articles of the year. He is currently serving as Ethics Advisor to the ABA’s Section on Environment, Energy, and Resources (SEER).

NIKOLAS GUGGENBERGER

Nikolas Guggenberger is Assistant Professor of Law at the University of Houston Law Center. He also holds an appointment at the Cullen College of Engineering’s Electrical and Computer Engineering Department. Guggenberger’s work focuses on antitrust, law & technology, privacy, and regulation. He has frequently advised government entities and served as expert witness on technology policy, financial markets regulation, and media law.

Before joining the University of Houston Law Center, Guggenberger was a Lecturer in Law at Yale Law School and Executive Director of the Yale Information Society Project. Guggenberger held an appointment as the RWTH Foundation Assistant Professor at the University of Münster School of Law in Germany and taught at the University of Virginia School of Law and the University of São Paulo Law School. He also served as an advisor on banking and financial markets regulation and monetary and economic policy to Jakob von Weizsäcker at the European Parliament in Brussels. He clerked in Freiburg, Germany, and holds degrees from Freiburg University (JD-equivalent & PhD) and Stanford Law School (LLM). Guggenberger is in the first cohort of UH Presidential Frontier Faculty, a university-wide integrated interdisciplinary faculty hiring campaign to respond to federal priorities and societal challenges.
TRACY HESTER
Professor Hester teaches environmental law at the University of Houston Law Center, where he co-directs the Law Center’s Environment, Energy & Natural Resources Law Center and the University of Houston’s Center for Carbon Management in Energy. He is a recognized expert on the innovative application of environmental laws to emerging technologies and unanticipated risks, including climate engineering, deep decarbonization (particularly in energy production), nanoscale materials and microplastics, and climate liability. In Fall 2019, Prof. Hester taught the first U.S. law school course on Climate Intervention Law, which focused on emerging climate engineering technologies and legal challenges. He also originated and teaches an innovative Environmental Practicum that matches students with multiple leading environmental attorneys to work on practical projects and to develop creative legal initiatives.

Professor Hester currently serves on the American Bar Association’s Climate Change Task Force, and he acted as one of the ABA’s delegates to the UN climate conferences in 2021 and 2022. During the summer of 2014, Prof. Hester served as the interim Director of the North America Commission on Environmental Cooperation’s Submission on Environmental Matters Unit in Montreal, Canada. The Environmental Law Institute also named him as its Environmental Scholar in Residence for 2015.

Prof. Hester was inducted into the American College of Environmental Lawyers in 2015 (and named a Regent in 2018), elected as a member of the American Law Institute in 2004, and named the Top Environmental Lawyer in Houston in 2011 by Best Lawyers of America. He was also elected to the Council of the American Bar Association’s Section on Environment, Energy and Resources (SEER) in 2011 through 2014. Prof. Hester is the past chair of SEER’s Special Committee on Congressional Relations, its Climate Change and Sustainable Development Committee, and its Environmental Enforcement and Crimes Committee. Prior to joining the University of Houston Law Center, Prof. Hester practiced for 25 years and served as a partner in Bracewell LLP for sixteen years. He led that firm’s Houston environmental group.

MIRANDA LEPPLA
Miranda Leppla is the director of the Environmental Law Clinic within the Milton and Charlotte Kramer Law Clinic at Case Western Reserve University School of Law, which will handle various environmental and energy matters. Miranda joined the faculty in 2022 to start the new clinic after over five years serving as the vice president of energy policy and lead energy counsel at the Ohio Environmental Council (OEC), where she led the energy team’s campaigns and initiatives to promote and advance clean energy and energy efficiency, mitigate climate change, and secure stronger public health safeguards for Ohioans. Miranda was lead counsel in all energy litigation matters, and represented the OEC, as well as other non-profits, at the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, the Ohio Power Siting Board, and courts throughout the State of Ohio.

Prior to that, Miranda was in private practice for several years where she focused on litigation, natural gas utility issues, toxic torts, False Claims Act litigation, and utility-scale wind farm permitting. Miranda holds a BA in Law, Letters, & Society from The University of Chicago (2006), and a JD from The Ohio State University Michael E. Moritz College of Law (2010), where she was the editor-in-chief of the Ohio State Journal of Criminal Law. Miranda is admitted to practice in Ohio, as well as the United States District Courts for the Northern and Southern Districts of Ohio.

KEITH LE TOURNEAU
Keith’s government contract experience includes shipyard bid protests, labor standards disputes, and appeals of contracting officers’ final decisions before boards of contract, as well as solicitation and bid reviews and evaluations. He has also defended document-intensive shipyard and oil rig repair contract disputes.

He is co-chair of the firm’s Blockchain Working Group. He has published recent articles about the industry, specifically as it relates to maritime matters, and presented on Blockchain issues at the firm’s Litigation Department CLE program in Philadelphia in November 2017.

Keith served as a trial attorney for both the U.S. Coast Guard’s Procurement Law Division and the Admiralty Section of the U.S. Department of Justice’s Civil Division. He is a retired commander of the U.S. Coast Guard. His military service included assignments as a deck watch officer aboard a medium-endurance cutter that engaged in drug law enforcement efforts in the Caribbean Basin and as commanding officer of a Coast Guard patrol boat stationed along the southeast Texas coast.

Keith is a member of the Order of the Coif, an honorary academic society that recognizes law students, teachers, judges, and lawyers for their scholarly or professional achievements.
TIFFANY LI

Tiffany C. Li is a technology attorney and legal scholar. She is an Assistant Professor of Law at University of New Hampshire School of Law, where she teaches Internet Law and Constitutional Law. She is also a Fellow at Yale Law School’s Information Society Project.

Li is an expert on privacy, artificial intelligence, and technology platform governance. She regularly appears as a legal commentator in national and global news outlets, and she has written for popular publications including the Washington Post, the Atlantic, and Slate. She also writes a recurring column on technology and privacy for MSNBC. Her recent academic scholarship includes articles on privacy in pandemic and privacy as a civil right.

She previously taught Technology Law at Boston University School of Law. Li has also held past affiliations with Princeton’s Center for Information Technology Policy and U.C. Berkeley’s Center for Technology, Society and Policy. Prior to academia, she gained experience in law and policy at leading technology organizations including the Wikimedia Foundation, General Assembly, and Ask.com.

Li is a licensed attorney and has CIPP/US, CIPP/E, CIPT, and CIPM certifications from the International Association of Privacy Professionals. She has a J.D. from Georgetown University Law Center, where she was a Global Law Scholar, and a B.A. in English from University of California, Los Angeles, where she was a Norma J. Ehrlich Scholar.

Li has been honored with a variety of accolades, including: Transatlantic Digital Debates Fellow (Global Public Policy Institute/New America Foundation), Fellow of Information Privacy (International Association of Privacy Professionals), Internet Law and Policy Foundry Fellow (Internet Education Foundation), Fastcase 50 honoree, and Intellectual Property Law Fellow (American Bar Association).

PAULA NARCISSE

Paula M. Narcisse is the General Counsel for Worldwide Oilfield Machine, Inc. (WOM), a global oilfield services company. She has worked in the energy industry for over 20 years, obtaining extensive experience in both upstream and downstream markets. Her experience has equipped her to serve as a trusted advisor and strategic business partner to WOM’s leadership team. Paula’s strives to ensure effective and compliant global business operations within WOM.

Paula has held escalating legal counsel roles within various energy companies. She began her in-house career at ConocoPhillips, as Senior Counsel within their downstream division. Next, she worked at Cameron International Corporation, as Chief Legal Counsel for the Surface Business Unit. Paula joined WOM most recently from Schlumberger where she served as General Counsel for their Surface Production Systems business unit.

Paula’s education credentials include a Juris Doctoral degree from Southern Methodist University (S.M.U.) School of Law, Dallas, Texas and a Bachelor of Science, Accounting degree from Xavier University of Louisiana, New Orleans, Louisiana.

ALEX NISENBAUM

Alex advises clients on data privacy and information security laws and regulations, including compliance with HIPAA/HITECH; Gramm-Leach-Bliley; the California Consumer Privacy Act; cross-border data transfer; and state privacy, data protection, and breach notification requirements. Alex is able to synthesize the patchwork of state and federal legal requirements to assist clients in bringing innovative products to market and operationalize compliance programs that are in line with their business goals. He is certified as an information privacy professional by the International Association of Privacy Professionals.

He handles technology and data privacy and security matters in a variety of industries, including healthcare, FinTech, financial services, pharmaceutical, medical device, consumer goods, e-commerce, and manufacturing. He also regularly handles strategic information technology (“IT”) transactions covering diverse critical business functions, including agreements involving cloud services and software licensing, software and mobile application development, IT and business process outsourcing, hardware acquisition, telecommunications, data licensing, and professional services.
PABLO M. PINTO

Pablo M. Pinto is a Distinguished Professor and Director of the Center for Public Policy at the University of Houston’s Hobby School of Public Affairs. Pinto’s areas of expertise are international and comparative political economy, comparative politics, and quantitative methods. Pinto served as UH Energy Faculty Fellow, non-resident Scholar in the Latin America Initiative of the Baker Institute at Rice University, and co-editor of the journal Economics & Politics. He holds an M.A. from Aoyama Gakuin University in Japan, and a Ph.D. in Political Science and International Affairs from the University of California, San Diego. He received a Law Degree from Universidad Nacional de La Plata, Argentina. Prior to joining the University of Houston in 2014, Pinto was a member of the faculty of Columbia University. He taught at the Escuela Nacional de Gobierno in his native Argentina, and the Universidad Nacional de La Plata, where he founded and directed the Department for Asia-Pacific Studies. He also worked as Chief Counsel for Toyota Argentina.

LINDA PRIMROSE

Linda D. Primrose is General Counsel and Corporate Secretary of the Legal Department for Mitsui & Co. (U.S.A.), Inc. Linda leads a team of ten attorneys overseeing all legal issues in the U.S. and Canada including corporate governance, contracts and M&A, labor and employment, antitrust, intellectual property, privacy and data protection, and litigation and other dispute resolution. In addition, she is one of only 45 Mitsui employees internationally selected for its Change Leader Program, a global initiative for talent development. Linda has spent almost 17 years with Mitsui and is the first American and first woman to hold the GC position with Mitsui in the U.S.

Before joining Mitsui, Linda was in private practice for five years with Cravath, Swaine & Moore LLP focused on M&A, banking and finance, and securities transactions, and general corporate matters. Previously, she was an environmental scientist with BEM Systems, Inc., where she worked prior to and during law school conducting environmental investigations and advising private clients, lenders, and governmental entities concerning environmental risks associated with real property.

Linda holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Biological Sciences from Fordham University, a Master of Science degree in Environmental Science from Rutgers University, and a Juris Doctorate degree, cum laude and Order of the Coif, from Fordham University School of Law. She is admitted to practice law in New York and Texas. Linda also sits on the Board of Directors of the McGovern Health and Science Museum as well as its Executive Committee and is a cantor at Epiphany of the Lord Catholic Community.

ANTHONY RAPA

Anthony Rapa leads Blank Rome’s National Security team, with a focus on economic sanctions, export controls, and foreign investment reviews. A dual U.S./UK-qualified practitioner, he advises clients across a range of industries, including energy, aerospace and defense, automotive, semiconductors, telecommunications, and freight forwarding. He has been recognized as a leading practitioner by Global Investigations Review and Who’s Who Legal, and frequently writes and speaks on economic statecraft matters. Anthony loves baseball, classic rock, and Italian cooking, and he and his wife live on a farm in Virginia with their corgi-lab mix.
ALAN ROZENSHTEIN
Professor Alan Z. Rozenshtein joined the University of Minnesota Law School as a visiting professor in 2017 and, in summer 2019, continued as an Associate Professor of Law. He is a senior editor at Lawfare, a term member of the Council on Foreign Relations, a member of the Scholars Strategy Network, and a visiting faculty fellow at the University of Nebraska College of Law. He was previously an affiliate with the Berkman Klein Center for Internet and Society at Harvard University.

From October 2014 to April 2017, he served as an attorney advisor in the Office of Law and Policy in the National Security Division of the U.S. Department of Justice, where his work focused on operational, legal, and policy issues relating to cybersecurity and foreign intelligence. From October 2016 to April 2017, he served as a special assistant United States attorney for the District of Maryland. During this time he taught cybersecurity at Georgetown Law.

Before joining the Justice Department, Professor Rozenshtein clerked for Judge J. Harvie Wilkinson III of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 4th Circuit. While attending Harvard Law School, he was a Heyman Fellow, served as articles editor for the Harvard Law Review, and was a contributor to Lawfare. Prior to attending law school, he studied philosophy at Balliol College, University of Oxford.

ELIZABETH TRUJILLO
Elizabeth Trujillo is the Mary Ann & Lawrence E. Faust Professor of Law and the Founding Director of the Initiative on Global Law and Policy for the Americas. She writes and teaches in international trade and investment law, USMCA, sustainable development and energy, contracts, and international law. Her publications which can be found in leading law reviews, books, and peer journals, examine the legal and policy overlaps between international trade and investment and domestic regulatory processes, specifically in the areas of energy, the environment, and sustainable development. Her more recent work focuses on the trade considerations for domestic decarbonization strategies in the context of changing international economic legal frameworks, with an emphasis on the Americas, and on the models for international trade policy that better serve sustainable development principles.

Recent samples of her work can be found in the Journal of International Economic Law (OUP), Duke Journal of International and Comparative Law, Boston College Law Review, and Indiana Journal of Global Legal Studies (peer review). Her Chapter on International Trade and Deep Decarbonization in the U.S. in Legal Pathways to Deep Decarbonization in the United States published by the Environmental Law Institute in 2018, is part of the U.S. Deep Decarbonization Pathway Project, developed by the Institute for Sustainable Development and International Relations and the Sustainable Development Solutions Network as a global collaboration of leading research institutions around the world working on policy proposals for national decarbonization strategies.

Professor Trujillo has been the recipient of the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation Research Fellowship and is writing a book on Shattered Prisms: Reconceptualizing Trade through a Sustainable Development Framework, which will be published with Cambridge University Press. Prior to joining UH Law Faculty, Professor Trujillo was Full Professor at Texas A&M University School of Law and a Full Professor at Suffolk University Law School in Boston. She has visited at Harvard Law School, Florida State University, the Max Planck Institute for Comparative Public Law and International Law in Germany, and the University of Bologna in Italy. She remains an affiliate of the Texas A&M Energy Institute.

Professor Trujillo has served on the Executive Council of the American Society of International Law, and serves on the UH Faculty Senate and UH Faculty Governance Committee. Prior to teaching, Professor Trujillo practiced law in LeBoeuf, Lamb, Greene, and MacRae (later Dewey and LeBoeuf) in the areas international energy, project finance, international business and investment with a focus on Mexico and Latin America. Professor Trujillo is an elected member of the American Law Institute.
ANDREW WILLS
Andrew Wills is Chief of Staff and Senior Advisor for the Office of Cybersecurity, Energy Security, and Emergency Response (CESER) at the U.S. Department of Energy. As a principal member of the CESER senior leadership team, he supports the Director of CESER in overseeing office-wide strategic planning, programmatic initiatives, communications, budget, and administrative efforts.

Prior to joining the Department, Wills was head of Federal Affairs for Invenergy, where he was Invenergy’s principal liaison to all federal partners to advance Invenergy’s sustainable energy mission. He also served as Director of Federal Affairs and Counsel at the American Public Power Association; Associate Attorney for standards development and corporate law for the North American Electric Reliability Corporation; Summer Associate for Duncan, Weinberg, Genzer, and Pembroke; and Law Clerk for the Georgia Transmission Corporation. Wills is 2011 magna cum laude graduate of the School of Public and International Affairs at the University of Georgia (UGA) in Athens, Georgia, and a 2014 cum laude graduate of the UGA School of Law.

KRISTEN VAN DE BIEZENBOS
Kristen van de Biezenbos is an Associate Professor with the University of Calgary Faculty of Law and Haskayne School of Business. She received her J.D., magna cum laude, from Tulane University Law School in 2010. While in law school, she served as the Senior Notes and Comments Editor of the Tulane Law Review and as an intern for the Honorable Judge Lance Africk at the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Louisiana. After attending law school, Professor van de Biezenbos had a mixed transactional and litigation practice in New Orleans. Prior to joining the law faculty at Calgary, she taught at the University of Oklahoma College of Law and Texas Tech University School of Law and served as a Westerfield Fellow at Loyola New Orleans College of Law. She teaches and writes on energy law and policy, especially community impacts of resource projects, electricity transmission and planning, and energy equity. She is a member of the Board of Advisory Editors for the Tulane Law Review and the Loyola Maritime Law Journal and is a former trustee of the Rocky Mountain Mineral Law Foundation. Her articles have been published in Osgoode Hall Law Journal, Washington University Law Review, Fordham Law Review, Michigan Journal of Law Reform, Tulane Law Review, the McGill Journal of Sustainable Development, and others. In July of 2023 she will join California Western School of Law as a Professor of Law.

GINA WARREN
Gina S. Warren is the A.L. O’Quinn Chair in Environmental Studies and co-director of the Environment, Energy, and Natural Resources Center. Her teaching and scholarship focus on the nexus between the environment, property, social justice, and energy. Her scholarship has appeared in prominent law review journals, books, and peer-reviewed journals. Professor Warren was in private practice for several years prior to entering academia. She worked as a litigator in land use, environment, and utility law for the international law firm of Perkins Coie based in Seattle. Professor Warren also completed a clerkship for the Honorable Michael Winkelstein of the Appellate Division of the Superior Court of New Jersey. She received her Bachelor of Science from the University of Arizona and her Juris Doctorate from Rutgers School of Law. She is admitted to practice law in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, the U.S. Virgin Islands, and Washington.

HANNAH WISEMAN
Hannah Wiseman received her J.D. from Yale Law School and her A.B. from Dartmouth College, summa cum laude. She is currently at Penn State University serving as a Professor of Law; Professor and Wilson Faculty Fellow in the College of Earth and Mineral Sciences; Co-funded Faculty - Institutes of Energy and the Environment; and Co-Director, Penn State Center for Energy Law and Policy. She was previously a Professor at the Florida State University College of Law, an Assistant Professor at the University of Tulsa College of Law, and an Emerging Scholar at the University of Texas School of Law. Prior to law school, she served as a research assistant and then associate with ICF Consulting’s Climate and Air Group, and after law school she clerked for Judge Patrick Higginbotham of the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals. Hannah researches and teaches about issues involving property rights, land use, and energy, both fossil-based and renewable, and she explores governance issues within this space. She has published articles in journals such as the NYU Law Review, Georgetown Law Journal, Stanford Law Review (co-authored), and Duke Law Journal (co-authored), and she is the co-author of one energy textbook and two energy books.

ANDREW WILLS