

EENR Speaker Series Presents

Consul General Thomas H. Meister: Future Directions in Global Energy and Climate Policy from the German Perspective

Consul Meister represents the interests of the Republic of Germany in Houston. His talk will address:

- Germany's perspectives on the global transition of energy production to low-carbon sources
- Climate change policy and directions
- Status of the Paris Agreement on climate change and international actions to accomplish its goals

Mr. Meister took up his position as Consul General in Houston in summer 2017, and he leads Germany's engagement in Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico and Oklahoma. Mr. Meister's priorities and responsibilities include developing and strengthening political ties between Germany and the consular district, enhancing trade and investment partnerships, cooperation in the field of culture, promoting science and innovation links and rendering consular assistance to the large number of German nationals who call this region their home.
